Profile

I am a nineteen-year-old Systems Analysis and Development student and a Systems Development technician. I am currently working as a Developer Intern at CRAFT. I have been studying development and technology for more than two years. The technologies I have been focusing on study are C#, .NET, Node.js, React, Angular and JavaScript/Typescript. I value assertiveness and teamwork, in addition to constant growth, both mine and that of the company and time. As a developer, I seek to use technology as a tool for professional, personal and emotional development as we progress together.
